MONTROSE.

Special to the Scranton Tribune.

Montrose, April 10.—The congregational meeting of the members of the Presbyterian church, to take action on the resignation of the pastor, Rev. A. L. Benton, D. D., was held in the church chapel yesterday afternoon. Rev. P. H. Brooks, of Wilkes-Barre, acted as moderator. The weather was very unfavorable, yet under such conditions, the attendance was large.

The resignation of Dr. Benton was acted upon in accordance with the pastor's personal desire, and John C. Harrington and Robert E. Beebe were elected to represent the church at the presbytery and ask that the pastoral relation be dissolved.

Resolutions of appreciation, of the pastor, which had been adopted by the session of the church, were read and were unanimously approved and ordered spread upon the church records.

On motion, the moderator, Mr. Brooks, and Pastor Benton were appointed a committee to appoint another committee, whose duty will be to introduce a new pastor to the church. This method, while not in the least restricting the rights of the congregation, will do away with the tedious and oftentimes unsatisfactory method of "candidating" for a new pastor.

Although the church is not financially able to rehire Dr. Benton on a salary, as his people would very gladly do, they did what they could and showed their willing spirit by performing the graceful and meritorious act of unanimously electing Mr. Benton pastor emeritus of the church, an honorary position, which it is expected that Dr. Benton will occupy for life. No salary is attached to the position, but it will keep the retiring pastor in close touch with his devoted flock and they will find a measure of comfort and cheer.

Dr. Benton was also voted a month's vacation, as has been customary each year.

of Juanita Lodge Tuesday evening to celebrate the first anniversary of that lodge.

It being their regular meeting night, the regular business of the lodge was transacted, after which a literary and musical programme was rendered.

Rev. L. L. Lewis, in behalf of the lodge, in a few well chosen remarks, presented Brother F. A. Colvin a chair as a slight token of their appreciation of his services as captain of their degree team.

Refreshments were served after which some time was spent listening to short talks from visiting members and members of Juanita Lodge. The lodge room was beautifully decorated and presented a pretty scene when lighted by electricity. The lodge colors, pink and green, were extensively used in decorating as were potted plants. Much credit is due the decorating committee, comprised of the following: Mesdames Clara Decker, Julia Davis, Francis Warner and Mabel Stevens; also much credit is due the committee having the anniversary in charge comprised of the following: Mesdames Phoebe Lord, Angie Colvin, Sarah Cooney and Rev. L. L. Lewis.

TUNKHANNOCK.

Special to the Scranton Tribune.

Tunkhannock, April 9.—A. Judson Stark, of Pittston, attended the funeral of Mrs. Victor Lyman, on Wednesday. Louis Hilkawich, of New York, who has been looking after his stores at this place, returned home on Tuesday.

The funeral of Miss Jennie Weston, who died in the Methodist hospital, Brooklyn, N. Y., was held at the Weston home last Wednesday afternoon. Rev. Roberts, of the Presbyterian church, officiated, and a double duty consisting of Misses Lelah Sterling, Vera Packard, Edna Sage and Lillian Austin, sang appropriate selections. Miss Weston was a young woman who was universally respected and her death, following as it did, so soon after that of her father, seems sad indeed.

Frances, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Rogers, died very suddenly last Thursday afternoon of heart failure. She and her little brother, on their way home from school, were playing in the field where their father was at work, when the little girl suddenly dropped upon the ground and died soon after her father reached her. The funeral was held from the house last Saturday. Rev. Roberts conducting the services. Frances was a pretty, bright and lovable child, and the family has every one's sympathy in this sudden bereavement.

Leon Stephens closed a successful term of school at Maple Grove last Thursday.

Miss Elizabeth Palmer, of Montrose, visited Brooklyn friends recently.

Miss Hattie McMillan is visiting her cousins in Bridgewater.

Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Terry have moved into the rooms over the hardware store.

PITTSBURGH.

Mayor Corcoran and the saloon keepers of this city had a consultation in the office of the chief executive on Monday evening of this week. Just what took place there has not been given out, but it is rumored and the rumors comes from reliable sources that the mayor has decided that the flagrant violations of the liquor law in relation to selling on Sunday must cease, and that the saloons must hereafter be closed on the Sabbath.

During his recent trip in Florida, term sessions were held. The district was well represented by delegates, and the following programme was carried out: Morning session—Opening exercises, Mrs. P. H. WELSH HILL.

Special to the Scranton Tribune.

Welsh Hill, April 9.—The small cyclone, which visited us on Tuesday, played havoc with the fences. We are ready for better weather.

Mrs. Carrie W. Slason, of Towanda, Pa., gave a Gospel, temperance and Prohibition recital and lecture in the Congregational tabernacle last Sunday evening. Owing to the rain, but few were present.

Mrs. Evan Anthony returned last week from a visit to Scranton friends.

Mrs. R. N. Harris and children, Wesley and Elmore, are visiting her parents in Pittston.

Arbor Day, Friday, April 11, will be observed here by the planting of trees in the park.

An appropriate programme will be carried out by the school children.

Mr. and Mrs. David Jones have taken possession of the Owens property and are now ready to receive their many friends.

Henry Harris and wife left last Monday for Scranton, where they will make their future home. James Jenkins has charge of his large farm. As the older people retire from farm life and go cityward, we are glad to see the young filling their places.

DALTON.

Within recent years the raising of chickens on an extensive scale has become quite a frequent business enterprise in many sections of the rural districts about this locality. Travelers passing through the borough of Dalton on the Delaware, Lackawanna and Erie, will find a large number of the eastern side of the town a low long frame structure, occupying a conspicuous place on the side of the hill. This building is the chicken of the Dalcrest poultry farm, owned by George G. Mahy, secretary of the Scranton Young Men's Christian association. About three years ago Mr. Mahy bought a beautifully situated and valuable property, consisting of a house and lot, for a summer home. Soon after this first purchase he bought at the rear of his property four acres more. Some time ago Mr. Mahy conceived the idea that raising chickens might be made a lucrative business. Last fall he had erected the large chicken mentioned. Although the business is only in its infancy Mr. Mahy is already showing that not only can he do a great work for his creator and his fellowmen, as he has done in the case of the Scranton Young Men's Christian association, but he can also successfully arrange and manage a poultry farm. There is probably no better equipped and up-to-date chickenery in Northeastern Pennsylvania than is this one, owned by Mr. Mahy.

The center of the building is used for feeding and incubator rooms. Mr. Mahy has a large capacity for thirty dozen eggs each. When The Tribune representative was inspecting this place one of the incubators was hatching, and it was exceedingly interesting to watch the young chicks roll out of their shells. The building is kept at a constant temperature of 95 degrees, and it is kept at a constant temperature of 95 degrees. The building is kept at a constant temperature of 95 degrees. Another one of this city's oldest residents passed away this morning when Mrs. Sarah Snyder died at her home on Exeter street, West Pittston. Deceased was a native of Ludlowville, Tennessee, N. Y., and was in her eighty-second year. She had been a resident of the West Side since 1873, previous to which she had resided at Dallas. Death was due to the infirmities of old age. The following daughters and son survive: Mrs. Charles Snyder, of Washington, D. C.; Jerome Snyder and Mrs. Gertrude Coolehan, of West Pittston. The latter is a teacher in the public schools of the West Side. Sylvester Kelley, of Dallas, is a surviving brother of the deceased. The funeral will take place Monday morning at 10:30 o'clock with interment at Dallas.

Michael Moylan, the Port Griffith grocer, had a horse killed by a live electric wire just near the city line on the plank road this afternoon. Mr. Moylan was driving his team toward home about 4 o'clock when a Western Electric wire fell across the road. The company's live trolley wire. One of the horses came in direct contact with the wire and was instantly killed, while the other was stunned for a short time but soon recovered. Mr. Moylan had a close call.

The twenty-fourth annual meeting of the Woman's Foreign Missionary society of the Wilkes-Barre district, Lackawanna Presbytery, was held in the West Pittston Presbyterian church, West Pittston, today. Morning and afternoon sessions were held.

Hamilton, N. Y., April 10.—The freshman banquet has been held and no under-classmen event in Colgate university has ever been more successful or conducted on a more mammoth scale. The sophomores had long suspected the coming event of the freshmen, and which plan was to be a banquet, but their efforts proved futile to hinder the freshmen in their well conceived, though bold plan. On Friday evening last, shortly after supper, when most students are at the postoffice, the freshmen repaired to a sliding by the railway station, where a special train was waiting for them. Quickly aboard, they left Hamilton with screaming of whistles and much clamor for Utica, where the scene of festivity was. The toastmaster was J. M. Thurber, who called for the following toasts: "Colgate," A. C. Lewis; "History of Our Country," D. D. Edgar; "The Faculty," A. L. Thompson; "The Responsibilities of Cultured Men," A. M. Stevens; "Women," R. B. Fosdick; "The Sophomores," E. R. Vance; "Unity," E. T. Campbell; "Some Impressions of an Undergraduate," W. H. Cummings; "The Qualities That Win," J. R. Miel.
